Protect calf growth and health with a coat!

Coats help calves to maintain their body temperature in cold weather, so that the energy they consume can be used for growth and maintaining a healthy immune system, and not used for keeping warm.

Use coats for:

- New-born calves – avoidance of cold stress
- Young calves (under 3 weeks of age) - when air temperatures are less than 10-15°C
- Older calves (3-6 weeks of age) - at temperatures below 5-10°C.
- Sick calves – to support immune system function and help speed recovery
